New Website, No Webshop

Mayves is renovating its website. The result is an easily accessible, easy to navigate website with information about Cardle, future products, options for specialized series and business-to-business, and much more. Mayves also has a Facebook page and has recently opened its own twitter account, both of which can also be reached through our website. Since Cardle is available through distributors around the world with sellers in many different countries, the webshop will not be continued. Instead, Cardle will be available through various webshops in various countries.

The new website is scheduled to go live on 1 September 2012.
